"Once one chooses to become a disciple of Christ...Stewardship is not an option"

The parable of the Good Samaritan opens a door to a life influenced by the Word of God. The love of God, deeply rooted, becomes in us a love of neighbor. Moses told the Israelites that God's law was written on their hearts. Today's popular culture encourages behavior that is completely opposed to the idea of loving one's neighbor. We can only find peace and true happiness when we accept God's love and mercy and likewise show love and mercy to each other. May we grow in love of neighbor and come to understand that we do not make this journey alone.

LOVE ONE ANOTHER

TODAYS REFLECTION

We are to love God and our neighbor with all the strength of our being, as the scholar of the Law answers Jesus in this week's Gospel.

This command is nothing remote or mysterious—it's already written in our hearts, in the book of sacred Scripture. "You have only to carry it out," Moses says in this week's First Reading.

Jesus tells His interrogator the same thing: "Do this and you will live."

The scholar, however, wants to know where he can draw the line. That's the motive behind his question: "Who is my neighbor?"

In his compassion, the Samaritan in Jesus' parable reveals the boundless mercy of God - who came down to us when we were fallen in sin, close to dead, unable to pick ourselves up.

Jesus is "the image of the invisible God," this week's Epistle tells us. In Him, the love of God has come very near to us. By the "blood of His Cross"—by bearing His neighbors' sufferings in His own body, being himself stripped and beaten and left for dead—He saved us from bonds of sin, reconciled us to God and to one another.

Like the Samaritan, He pays the price for us, heals the wounds of sin, pours out on us the oil and wine of the sacraments, entrusts us to the care of His Church, until He comes back for us.

Because His love has known no limits, ours cannot either. We are to love as we have been loved, to do for others what He has done for us—joining all things together in His Body, the Church.

We are to love like the singer of this week's Psalm - like those whose prayers have been answered, like those whose lives has been saved, who have known the time of His favor, have seen God in His great mercy turn toward us.

This is the love that leads to eternal life, the love Jesus commands today of the scholar, and of each of us—"Go and do likewise."

Dr. Scott Hahn
