The demands of the world press on us every day, making it hard sometimes to remember our ultimate end. The readings today remind us that this earthly life is temporary and all the riches we may accumulate are but dust when we leave the world at death. Jesus' parable is a lesson to work for the riches of God's kingdom and to not be satisfied with the goods of the earth. St. Paul adds that we should avoid attitudes and behaviors that are contrary to the love of God. May this earthly life be a journey bringing us ever closer to the throne of God.

TODAYS REFLECTION

Trust in God—as the Rock of our salvation, as the Lord who made us His chosen people, as our shepherd and guide. This should be the mark of our following of Jesus.

Like the Israelites we recall in this week's Psalm, we have made an exodus, passing through the waters of Baptism, freeing us from our bondage to sin. We too are on a pilgrimage to a promised homeland, the Lord in our midst, feeding us heavenly bread, giving us living waters to drink (see 1 Corinthians 10:1-4).

We must take care to guard against the folly that befell the Israelites, that led them to quarrel and test God's goodness at Meribah and Massah.

We can harden our hearts in ways more subtle but no less ruinous. We can put our trust in possessions, squabble over earthly inheritances, kid ourselves that what we have we deserve, store up treasures and think they'll afford us security, rest.

All this is "vanity of vanities," a false and deadly way of living, as this week's First Reading tells us.

This is the greed that Jesus warns against in this week's Gospel. The rich man's anxiety and toil expose his lack of faith in God's care and provision. That's why Paul calls greed "idolatry" in the Epistle this week. Mistaking having for being, possession for existence, we forget that God is the giver of all that we have, we exalt the things we can make or buy over our Maker (see Romans 1:25).

Jesus calls the rich man a "fool"—a word used in the Old Testament for someone who rebels against God or has forgotten Him (see Psalm 14:1).

We should treasure most the new life we have been given in Christ and seek what is above, the promised inheritance of heaven. We have to see all things in the light of eternity, mindful that He who gives us the breath of life could at any moment—this night even—demand it back from us.

“If today you hear his voice, harden not your hearts.”

God calls each of us to serve him in a particular vocation. The responsorial psalm encourages us to respond to him not with a hardened heart but rather with a generous heart. If you think God might be calling you to a vocation to priesthood, now is the time to respond with a generous heart.
